

Chart of Motor Points

MOTOR POINT: It is a point at which the muscle is most easily excited with a minimum amount of electrical stimulation and is usually located about the center of the muscle mass at a point where the motor nerve enters the muscle. This point may vary between patients or with the same patient depending upon the pathology. The accompanying charts are supplied as guides.

Additional copies of this chart are available upon request by writing:
Mettler Electronics Corp.
 1333 So. Claudina St., Anaheim, Calif. 92805 U.S.A.

M = Muscle
N = Nerves